The organizer:

We professionally support our clients in organizing events and trade shows from the very first steps. We begin by analyzing the company's communication objectives to develop a concept aligned with the brand, creatively interpreting the message, optimizing budgets and resources, and building partnerships that maximize visibility and communication impact.

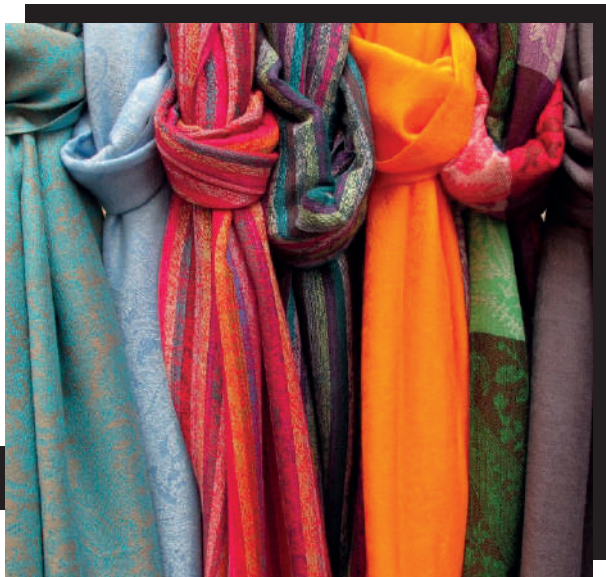

IntertextMilano is the international trade show dedicated to the textile industry, gathering manufacturers, suppliers, and fashion professionals from around the world in the vibrant city of Milan. It offers a key business platform to source high-quality fabrics, accessories, and innovative materials, explore the latest trends, and connect directly with industry experts.

Why Exhibit?

IntertextMilano is the ideal platform for textile producers, suppliers, and technology providers to showcase their products and innovations to a highly qualified international audience. Exhibiting at the fair means meeting buyers, designers, and sourcing managers from leading fashion and home textile brands, all seeking new fabrics, fibers, accessories, and sustainable solutions. The event offers exceptional opportunities to expand business networks, strengthen brand visibility, and enter or consolidate your presence in the European market – one of the most dynamic textile hubs in the world.

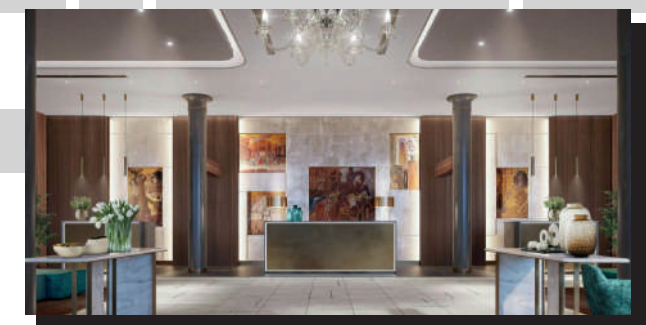

Why in Milan?

Located in the heart of Italy's fashion capital, IntertextMilano benefits from Milan's unmatched reputation as a global center of style, creativity, and business. The venue – the Marriott Hotel Milano, Via Washington 66 – is just minutes away from iconic landmarks like the Duomo, San Siro, and the CityLife district, easily accessible by all major transport routes. Milan is home to the headquarters of world-renowned fashion brands and design houses, as well as major wholesale and textile districts. Hosting the fair here means being at the crossroads of the European textile and fashion industries, where innovation meets tradition and global partnerships are born.

Why Visit It?

IntertextMilano brings together the entire textile supply chain under one roof – from yarns and fabrics to accessories, machinery, and smart materials. Visitors can explore a wide range of innovative and sustainable products, discover the latest industry trends, and connect directly with top international manufacturers. The fair is designed for professionals in fashion, apparel, and interior design who are looking for new suppliers, creative inspiration, and cutting-edge technologies to boost their collections and production processes.
